

Dressed for the party

Design House Stockholm first launched Torso as part of our 25-year anniversary collection and now the Torso family is growing. Lisa Hilland's Torso is the chair, which like a bare torso, can be dressed.

For 2018 she has expanded the collection with a bar stool and a lounge chair. The woven leather back is inspired by the traditional hunter chair and gently flirts with Swedish craft traditions. The chairs are modest in their expression yet they are visually striking with their woven leather detailing. Lisa Hilland puts a lot of value to the fact that Torso is produced in Sweden as she prefers the environmental aspects as well as the hands-on quality control of locally produced design. She can often be seen on the factory floor searching for eco-friendly solutions to enhance the project. The new additions are dressed for the party and you'll find them in sophisticated bars and salons. You might say that Torso family are the lobster and champagne of chairs.

Lisa Hilland

Lisa Hilland creates modern designs with a poetic twist and enjoys combining modern, high-tech production methods with traditional, high-quality craftsmanship. After graduating from Central Saint Martin's College of Art and Design, she worked for ten years as a designer in London before starting her own design studio in Sweden in 2005. Lisa Hilland's accolades include Designer of the Year at the Plaza Magazine Awards in 2013, and Furniture of the Year at the Residence Magazine Awards in 2013.

Design House Stockholm

Design House Stockholm is the publishing house for Scandinavian design. With timeless charisma and a level of quality that outlives fleeting trends, the collection represents the best of contemporary Scandinavian design. Just as a book publisher works with its authors, Design House Stockholm collaborates with a network comprising some 70 designers. Ideas evolve into products, which are sold via approximately 800 retailers worldwide, including four wholly owned stores and two franchises. Design House Stockholm was founded in 1992 by Anders Färdig and is currently one of the leading brands in Scandinavian design.
